

Review of: "“Saving the Forest” with a REDD+ Project: Socio-Ecological Repercussions on Indigenous People in Cambodia"

Nabin Bhattarai

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper needs major revision. I don't exactly know the structure requirements for this journal, but the structure is not promising. Even the journal seems like a review paper.

Few more comments:

1. The abstract needs reworking, which is not clear now.
2. The intro section is very weak and needs more literature review
3. The presentation of results can be visually appealing; I suggest to rework it.
4. The conclusion also is not convincing.

I suggest accepting the paper if the above-mentioned comments are well addressed.