

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Hypohidrotic ectodermal dysplasia with immunodeficiency

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Hypohidrotic ectodermal dysplasia with immunodeficiency. ORPHA:98813

Hypohidrotic ectodermal dysplasia with immunodeficiency (HED-ID) is a type of HED (see this term) characterized by the malformation of ectodermal structures such as skin, hair, teeth and sweat glands, and associated with immunodeficiency.