

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Isolated cryptophthalmia

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Isolated cryptophthalmia. ORPHA:91396

Isolated cryptophthalmia is a congenital abnormality in which the eyelids are absent and skin covers the ocular bulb, which is often microphthalmic. Six cases of complete bilateral cryptophthalmia have been described. Transmission is autosomal dominant.