

Review of: "Procurement Planning & the Rwanda Biomedical Centre (RBC)"

Eshetie Berhan¹

¹ Addis Ababa Institute of Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

While the subject matter appears intriguing, the manuscript falls short in terms of its scientific contribution and linguistics problem. The methodology utilized lacks depth, and the analysis conducted is significantly shallow, relying solely on a basic frequency table with six straightforward questions. Considering the lack of adequacy in addressing the problem, the method employed, and the shallow nature of the data analysis (which predominantly consists of descriptive statistics presented as percentages without addressing the conceptual framework), it is difficult to ascertain any value in publishing this manuscript as a scientific paper. Both the results and the ensuing discussion also lack depth and fail to provide substantial insights. Thank you for your understanding.