

Review of: "Ancient Houses in Ben Tre City: A Multifaceted Approach to Preserve Artistic Architectural Heritage and Boost Local Tourism"

Ayşe Durukan Kopuz<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Namik Kemal University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In fact, the paper makes important contributions to the field of cultural preservation by linking it to sustainable tourism development. It takes a different approach for conservationists interested in heritage preservation in urban settings. The paper brings out legal, cultural, and technical aspects. The paper emphasizes the conservation of ancient houses in Ben Tre for sustainable tourism development, and for this, it is a valuable analysis that addresses a critical and often overlooked aspect of cultural heritage preservation.