Abstract

1. The Abstract lacks clarity in the research methodology and results. The methodology contains research design, sampling method, sample size, and data collection method. But the authors wrote data analysis procedures and tests in that section.

2. The background and objectives are too detailed. There is no need to write objectives. The author can write the rationale of the study and the aim of the study briefly.

3. Headings and format of the Abstract are not according to APA 7th style.

Introduction

The Introduction chapter is well written, and the literature review is based on recent studies.

Method

As far as the Method chapter is concerned, it lacks a clear and rigorous research design, research procedure, sampling techniques, data collection method, and instruments. Moreover, dependent variables are written in very ambiguous ways. Independent variables details are missing. You should mention both variables equally and clearly.

Results

The results and tabulations are described well.

References

The References are not in APA 7th style. If you are writing the references in other formats such as MLA and Chicago, do verify.

Remarks

The study is a significant contribution to the medical field. It's experimental in nature. But the study lacks coherence and a clear research methodology. Without meticulous methodology, the study will not be able to attract high-ranking journals. I hope this feedback will encourage you to refine your manuscript.

Thank you.
