I appreciate the author's efforts to explain such an important topic.

However, the manuscript content is very confusing and lacks flow, as the paragraphs are disjointed and incoherently presented.

Thus, I suggest organizing the text more logically and using the following headings to facilitate comprehension: epidemiology, pathogenesis, impact of periodontal disease on diabetes, impact of diabetes on periodontal disease, impact of periodontal therapy on diabetes, preventive measures, etc.

In addition, given that the current article title does not align with the study objectives or the conclusions, this must also be resolved before the manuscript can be considered for publication.
