

Review of: "Teaching Patterns in Technological Curricula"

Carlos Arriaga Costa

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is a description of several methods of technological education including some technological tools. The author considers the work a descriptive analytical approach. But, for that purpose is necessary to clarify concepts, tools and methods of education. For instance, the author don t clarify what he considers technological tools and technological education methods in the description and the article resumes to a simple description without an important and necessary reflexion and critics about those methods and tools. I think the first need is to indicate the research question, the reason of that question and then, explain the purpose of the work.