

Review of: "Who Is Responsible for Preventing Children's Sexual Harassment?"

Oluwasayo, Bolarinwa Ogunlade¹

¹ Obafemi Awolowo University Ile-Ife

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Child sexual harassment is an issue of relevance globally.

Abstract: consider doing a grammatical editing to reflect that the study has been conducted by using past tenses.

The methods section of the abstract and the document should reflect the number of participants selected, number of focus groups and interviews conducted from the participating organizations as well as saturation determination.

The result section in the abstract should specify the different levels of responsibilities in other of priority or closest to the child for implementation.

The discussion should be related to similar relevant findings in literature.