The manuscript is well written, but some points should be paid attention to:

1. The method of color Doppler ultrasound is not mentioned in this manuscript. Also, the grading of varicocele with the color Doppler ultrasound is different than that used by physical examination. It should be mentioned which method of color Doppler ultrasound and which grading method is used, and the comparison between these methods should be mentioned.
2. The other point is that the number of patients in the manuscript and in the results is different.
3. The author should more describe the method of color Doppler ultrasound and also should explain the method of physical examination, adding to the reliability and validity of the manuscript.
