

Review of: "Longevity of Electric Vehicle Operations"

Fakhar Zaman¹

¹ Helderberg College

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors have highlighted the timeliness of electric vehicles (EVs) in the context of escalating emissions and climate change concerns. This work primarily caters to both learners and users. However, in order to cultivate a positive public perception and foster acceptance of EVs over internal combustion engines, it is crucial to address critical questions pertaining to EV longevity, battery lifespan, user-friendly and rapid charging solutions.