

Review of: "Sujok Triorigin Therapy For Chalazion: Case Reports"

Shenzhen Gao

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. Previous treatment: It is valuable to know whether the patient has received any treatment before, such as eyelid wiping, massage, over-the-counter drugs, steroid injections, or surgical drainage. Understanding the treatment history of patients can provide a background for the decision to adopt Sanyuan therapy. Do patients receive multiple treatment regimens at the same time?

2. Potential adverse reactions: Given the experimental nature of this treatment, it is relevant to deal with any potential adverse reactions that may occur. Has it been reported that there are related complications or adverse reactions to the use of three-source therapy in patients with choroid edema?
