

Review of: "Building a digital republic to reduce health disparities and improve population health in the United States"

Helena Costa Oliveira<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Instituto Politecnico do Porto

Potential competing interests: The author(s) declared that no potential competing interests exist.

Congratulations to the authors. The topic is very relevant. A digital republic well managed, particularly in terms of security, is very important to lead to equal opportunities in healthcare.

In my opinion, it is not clear what type of paper this is. This information must be added to the abstract. Perhaps a "research note", as the method and data are not defined.

The introduction would improve if it included: the motivation and relevance of the topic, objectives of the study, main conclusions and contributions and if it presented the structure of the paper. The structure of the paper seems a bit confusing to me, with multiple titles and subtitles.

Suggestions for future research (future work) could be included at the end of the conclusions.

The topic of limitations may be confused with the limitations in the development of the study. In this sense, it would change the title or add it to another topic.

Good luck!