Thank you for submitting this manuscript. It is well-written, the language is accessible, and it presents a solid background. I only have a few broad questions:

1. In the methods section: please explain how the interviewees were selected and how the information collected through interviews was treated and analysed;
2. In the results section: it would be important "to listen" to the participants, i.e., to have access to some selective interview excerpts, and eventually contrast the point of view of the working group and the experts. In what way could thinking about this be heuristic for this analysis?
3. In the discussion section: it would be interesting to analyse your results more in-depth based on the differences by activity sector;
4. Minor comment: there is some difficulty in reading the content of Figure 1.
