

Review of: "Ecological diversity, structure and exploitation of rattan stands according to a disturbance gradient around the Nkoltang forest, Estuary province of Gabon"

João C.G. Borges

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The content is presented clearly and with relevant information. I consider the content appropriate for publication.

Some information below is necessary.

Abstract: It is important to briefly describe how the abundance and other methodological steps were carried out.

Introduction: I suggest reviewing the introduction, as many sentences are not correctly referenced.