

Review of: "Factors influencing variable symptoms of COVID-19 patients and proposed revision of public policy for COVID-19 vaccination"

Cielo García Montero¹

¹ Universidad de Alcalá de Henares

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This manuscript is concise and offers a classification of patients based on susceptibility to SARS-CoV-2 and MHC. Although more genetic studies are needed, I think that authors propose good points to consider and start with, emphasizing inter-individual differences. I would only suggest to make a writing proofreading, specially in conclusions before publication. I see the text is well structured and Table 1 is quite representative of the subject.