

Review of: "First Days after Death - A Jungian Comparison between the Beliefs of the Serbian Orthodox Church and the Post-mortem Experiences in the Tibetan Bardo Plan"

Zacharias Kotze¹

¹ University of South Africa

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is interesting, informative, and ambitious. An attempt to compare Serbian Orthodox beliefs relating to death with those in Buddhist traditions may potentially be thought-provoking and enlightening. However, the uncritical use of a 'translated' Buddhist text that may in fact be of questionable theosophist origins is of concern. Adding a Jungian perspective to belief systems relating to death also certainly has merit. However, the author might consider narrowing her focus to specific aspects and making use of a more precisely defined methodology.