

Review of: "[Review Article] Review of Streptococcus pyogenes"

Sadhana Sharma

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I have read the review and I have raised certain points mentioned below.

- (1) The construction of the whole review is incoherent.
- (2) There are several repetitions in the abstract as well as introduction.
- (3) Figures 1 and 2, both references, are not correct.
- (4) The classification of S. pyogenes should be included either at the beginning of the induction or under the proper section.
- (4) The subheading under "Morphology and Identification" section appears to be confusing due to hyphens; using another mode of labeling or numbering.
- (5) The subsection under general characteristics of microorganisms needs to be revised to maintain coherency in the information.
- (6) All the references should be rechecked and properly scrutinized.
- (7) The conclusion is poorly written, and further emphasis should be given on preventive measures as well as future direction.

I recommend revisions to be made to the review prior to its consideration.

Thank you.