

Review of: "Prevalence of Buruli Ulcer Among Residents in Jasikan Municipality: A Cross-Sectional Study"

Worayuth Nak-Ai

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The introduction does not yet reveal the gaps of knowledge that need exploration, including issues of risk and risky behaviors of the population in the study area. Additionally, contextual information about the area should be incorporated into the introduction section. The determination of the sample size should provide statistical values according to the formula. The statistics obtained from the tool testing for reliability should also be specified. The article does not utilize inferential statistics for hypothesis testing, as outlined in the data analysis section.