

Review of: "Improving agriculture and food security in Africa: Can the one health approach be the answer?"

María Alejandra Parreño

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I think the topic is timely and interesting. However, the information is presented in a repetitive way, without a clear layout and story-telling. Several times in the introduction the authors start a topic, halt it halfway two sentences later and jump to a new topic without fully developing the first one and without changing the paragraph. The tables are useful for a review, but could be improved by breaking down the papers cited into components (table1) and assigning the actions to stakeholders (table2). It would be important to clarify the method used for the review.