

Review of: "On the Resilience of Urban Real Estate Development"

Henriette Steiner¹

¹ Copenhagen University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It's a really intriguing question and the combination of the framework of resilience and post-covid management in relation to housing/real-estate is well-put, but the work still needs focus to fulfil its potential. Most importantly, I find the question of real-estate not precise enough, the paper is very broadly argued but the question of real-estate to this reader would require more situated analysis and explanation. I hope this is helpful.