Dear authors,

Thank you giving me for the opportunity to read your paper. In general, the research has been comprehensive and excellent. But parts of the article need minor corrections.

- The positioning of the paper is not entirely clear. It is better to explain the gap in this article further.
- While this is an interesting paper, I feel that the constructs need much more precision and development to make a serious contribution to the literature. There are key limitations, which unfortunately outweigh the contributions to the extant literature.
- What are the theoretical and practical implications of your study .
- The authors need to draw substantive conclusions from their results, and suggest, develop recommendations for further research.

Warmly
