This a good study with interesting results. but need to some minor revisions. The introduction is too long and can be summarized. I can't understand why the authors included the literature review section and describe and define the Institutional factors influencing job satisfaction. It is better that the authors remove this subtitle and describe all these factors in a summarized paragraph. This subtitle can be use in a review article not in an original article. Methods: How the sample size calculated? How he goodness of fit of the regression model assessed.
