

Review of: "Factors contributing to labour unrest at the garment factories in Bangladesh: A cross-sectional study"

Norfatiha Othman¹

¹ Universiti Malaysia Terengganu

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Suggestions:

1. This article is good but needs some amendments for improvement.
2. In part introduction, the elaboration was clear but there are no current references. The latest references are from 2019. It is better to put a few references in 2020 until 2023.
3. In this article, there is no literature review. A literature review is the most important matter, and the author and reader want to understand the whole research what is about.
4. Part methodology – not sure if use mix-method or just quantitative only. Because in the part discussion, the author put the interview data with respondents. So, need to explain more about what approach and research design use.
5. Results and discussion were quite good.
6. Conclusion – put some impact on policy, society (workers) and country.