The review has been written very well—informative, scientific, and thorough.

Almost all the scientific requirements and understandings have been incorporated and discussed in it.

It is suggested that, for the more scope of the journal, readers, and its therapeutic importance, you mention/report the similar dose of the plant which can significantly work for all the biological activities without any cytotoxicity.

The manuscript text should be justified, in addition to some spacing errors.

The manuscript is accepted with these suggestions.
