- Revise the introduction to explain the study's general and specific context, identify the purpose, describe the materials employed, and ultimately outline the article's plan.
- The primary goal of the study and its methodology are not presented in the abstract, which is fairly broad.
- The paper deals with an interesting case; however, it does not sufficiently explore the theory on cultural heritage and patrimony, so the contribution beyond the case study is not clear. There are legal, economic, and architectural reflections; it would be necessary to choose a perspective and work in more detail
- English should be revised
