

Review of: "The normalization of biradical roots: the origin of triradicals and the proto-semitic language"

Eusabinus Bunau<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universitas Tanjungpura

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In general, the presentation and discussion of this paper is great. Please consider the following highlights/suggestions for greater betterment.

Start the abstract with, for instance: "This paper posed historical linguistics to estimate the time of the two languages emergence, and comparative linguistics to trace biradical that changed into triradical roots of the two languages."

Still in Abstract: How do you survey? Suggestion after coma: "I survey by collecting/selecting/sorting/picking/binning scholarly opinion....."

In Introduction: This paper deals with/discusses morphology (word form, formation conjugation). Please introduce a little bit of morpheme/lexeme/lexicon/word/syllable/affixes/base/root and its interface with phonology (consonant and vowel; phoneme deletion/addition or doubled).

Please see page 2/13: For clearer reads, please provide/quote example of word/lexeme/lexicon for these patterns (Cvv, CvvCCv, CvC, CvCCvCCCv).

Please see page 3/13: Please provide morpheme/word examples to which the Hebrew suffixes are attached, so readers can see clearly the roots and the suffixes.