

Review of: "Extension and Revision of Monetary Policy Transmission Mechanisms and Their Impact on Domestic Real Investment in Nigeria: A Time Series Study from 1981 to 2015 by Lucky Anyike and Uzah Cheta Kingsley"

Afful Ekow Kelly¹

¹ Catholic University College of Ghana

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Kelly's review: Extension and Revision of Monetary Policy Transmission Mechanisms and Their Impact on Domestic Real Investment in Nigeria: A Time Series Study from 1981 to 2015 by Lucky Anyike and Uzah Cheta Kingsle

Introduction :

The authors should highlight the key contributions in the introduction and provide some insight into how useful the study is to policy-making or management strategy formulation. These contributions should be briefly highlighted in the introduction, while a more detailed discussion should be done in the discussion section later.

Literature review:

The literature review is limited, as it excludes domestic real investment and its relationship with monetary policy. The study can supplement existing literature for 5 to 10 years, taking into account the subject area's gaps.

Discussion:

The study should give a comprehensive discussion of the

Reference:

The research reference is not consistent:

(Anyike, L., & Kingsley, U. C., 2017) ; A. Afonso & JT Jalles (2015); (O.A Uchendu 1996); (Olumuyiwa Adededeji, 2022)

Citation not in the reference list:

(Easterly and Rebelo, 1993; Mauro, 1995; Folster and Henrekson, 2001)