Dear author,

Thanks for the opportunity to review this interesting article. I have some comments on your article as below:

Abstract

I could not find the aim of the research in the abstract.

Your abstract's content is too vague for me; I could not understand the aim and scope.

Why did you mention recommendations for future study in the abstract? The abstract should contain the introduction, method, results, and conclusion only in a few sentences.

When you want to use abbreviations, mention the full form of the word the first time.

Introduction:

Why is the first paragraph of the introduction a copy of the abstract?

Clarify the table content.

I read the entire article; however, I could not figure the purpose of the study out. Rewrite the manuscript in a more stratified manner.
