

Review of: "The Ancient Indian Knowledge System and the Medical Sciences"

Abraham Escobedo-Moratilla

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The review talks about ancient Indian medicine and the importance of current therapy for diseases. In my opinion, the manuscript is similar to others previously published, and the length is short. I recommend adding more information that could differentiate from other articles with the same subject and focusing on a particular aspect, keeping the good writing present in the current form.