Congratulations, it is a very interesting topic. However, the manuscript would benefit significantly from major revisions in several areas, which I am summarizing below:

I would recommend the author to add more sentences regarding results in the Abstract section.

The introduction section is well-written.

Please add the interview questions in the “Supplementary Data” section.

Add the map of the study area with the location of nine villages that were considered in this study, with different colors from the total number of villages (twenty-two) that were involved in the REDD+ project.

I would recommend the author to add more references and improve the discussion section with literature regarding the topic.

With best regards,
