Review of: "Adoption of Technology Acceptance and Interfaces for Academic Information System Applications"

Nagaraj Ramrao[1]

1 Sree Vidyanikethan Engineering College

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper dwells upon building a robust digitization platform to conduct student business in academic institutions. The authors have put effort towards the inclusion of various analytical tools which makes the AIS strong and data-centric. Generation of reports in the desired form is an additional advantage. I recommend that the paper be accepted in its current form and do not suggest any revisions.