

Review of: "Digital Literacy Skills of Teachers: A Study on ICT Use and Purposes"

María Santamarina<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidad de Granada

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Authors,

The work presented here is interesting in terms of ICT teacher training in developing countries. However, there is a lot of research on this topic, so it is important that new work is very new in this area.

It's important, as another reviewer has already mentioned, that you specify the educational stage of the teachers (primary or secondary). In addition, the methodological part should be more detailed: how was the questionnaire elaborated, has the information been triangulated? I also recommend that you expand the section on discussions.