

Review of: "Strategies for Reducing Inherent Cognitive Biases in Educational Classrooms"

Paola Andrea Martínez–Sande¹

¹ Corporación Universitaria de la Costa (UNICOSTA)

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is very well written and discusses a novel topic; however, I believe it is necessary to add a methodology section where the author explains in-depth the process of the literature review. When reading the text, it is not clear to me how the author conducted the search, what time frame was used, and what search equation was employed to claim that no articles dedicated to examining cognitive biases for those levels of education were found. If the author adds a section clarifying these elements to the reader, in my opinion, the article could be published.