

Review of: "Navigating Complexity: Uncovering the Intricate Dynamics Between Intellectual Capital, Efficiency, and Performance in Taiwan's Banking Sector"

Nur Asni¹

¹ Universitas Haluoleo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The issue of this article is interesting and relevant in the context of the banking industry in the Asian region. However, I didn't find an important motivation underlying why this research was carried out in the research background. Besides that, research questions are not like general research questions. They present it in the form of statements such as hypothesis statements.