

Review of: "Determinants of Corporate Financial Performance in African Insurance Market"

João Zambujal-Oliveira¹

¹ Universidade da Madeira

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper takes an academic approach to the issue under study; however, it contains some significant structural and content deficiencies. The Literature Review section is almost nonexistent, primarily comprising descriptions of various models. Even the conceptual model is merely an explanation of the structure described in the methodology. Therefore, I suggest the development of a literature review defining the technical state of financial performance and moving the contents related to the model to the methodology section.