

Review of: "Unravelling the Phytochemical and Pharmacognosy Contour of Traditional Medicinal Plant: Pterocarpus Marsupium Roxb"

Dr. Ghulam Abbas<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Karachi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is well-written and adds to the existing literature on the subject. The introduction is well-composed and has been developed on the right lines. The most appropriate methodology has been used for analysis of data and information. The results have been reported well. A logical sequence of interpretations has been followed and developed scientifically. The discussion has been well brought out and the cogency of arguments are well thought out. The discussion is comprehensive and complete. References are as required. May be accepted for publication