

Review of: "Is creativity the seed of innovation?"

Ehsan Moradi<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universität Klagenfurt

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The major problem with the article is that you've written this in a loose, discursive way without developing a careful argument from one point to the next.
2. You do not clarify the key concepts and jump from point to point without clearly and carefully describing the issues you address.
3. You have not provided any references of new articles (2019,2020,2021,2022,2023) that talk about new definitions of creativity and innovation and the relationship between them in your paper.
4. I suggest that you adopt a more reflective stance in approaching the literature.