

Review of: "Enhancing Veterinary Services for Smallholder Farmers in Zimbabwe: A Comprehensive Literature Review"

Zakia Himeur

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This literature review examined the delivery and evolution of veterinary services at the small farm level; as well as the involvement and interaction of farmer's towards this offer. The authors also explored the constraints encountered by the beneficiaries to access it.

- In my humble opinion, the article is very rich in terms of information, but the authors must provide additional efforts in improving their research work.
- It seems to me that the authors should revise the introduction and the conclusion. Why mention the legal framework at the beginning and end of the article?
- The method used by the authors to elaborate the bibliographical synthesis was not mentioned.
- The results provided in the abstract are not perceived in the paper.
- Discussion of the study results by the authors has been omitted.
- There is a need to review the arrangement of titles and paragraphs layout in the article.
- I suggest the following paper title for the authors: Veterinary services for small farms in Zimbabwe Bibliographic synthesis and improvement prospects.