

Review of: "[Commentary] The WHO strategies to reduce tobacco-related deaths are insufficient"

Mohammad Kharabsheh¹

¹ Hashemite University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is an interesting study and the authors have discusses the adequacy of WHO's strategies for smoking cessation.

This study lacks scientific data in a proper way such as compartive tables or figures to show the stringeth points . I also suggested to to look at new references and to provide more.

The authors should develop a unique theoretical framework, and I believe that they should highlight their originality much more.