

Review of: "Teeth Whitening: Optimization with Violet LEDs"

Maryam Heidari-Kharaji

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript needs major revision, and I would like to suggest some comments:

1. While the article references previous studies and literature, specific citations seem sporadic. It would benefit from a more comprehensive bibliography detailing studies backing up claims, particularly concerning the effectiveness of violet light versus traditional methods.
2. The article mentions several figures but does not provide high-quality images or data within the text to visualize the findings, which would enhance engagement and understanding from the reader's perspective.
3. Although the article touches on the reduction of hypersensitivity, a more thorough discussion of potential side effects or contraindications of using the BMW system, if any, would be important for readers to consider.
4. More detailed information on the clinical protocols, including variations for different patient types or conditions, could provide additional insights into the flexibility and adaptability of the technique.