

Review of: "Evaluation of Chemical Content and Phytochemical Composition of Yemeni Almond Cultivars"

Maria Lima¹

¹ Polytechnic Institute of Viseu

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Congratulations on your work. This work is not new, but a lot of analysis has been carried out in different species belonging to several regions.

The references should be updated in order to include the most recent studies.

This is a complete study with several analytical analyses. Maybe different statistical analyses should be made in order to bring other conclusions relative to irrigation, climate, agronomic practices, and other studies to explain the differences found.