

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Ocular albinism with late-onset sensorineural deafness

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Ocular albinism with late-onset sensorineural deafness. ORPHA:1000

Ocular albinism with late-onset sensorineural deafness is a rare, X-linked inherited subtype of ocular albinism characterized by severe visual impairment, translucent pale-blue irises, a reduction in the retinal pigment and moderately severe deafness with onset ranging from adolescence to fourth or fifth decade of life.