Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Abstract: The language needs modification. This is a review article, and it would be good to avoid words like investigation, research, study.

Main text: The review is thorough but monotonous. Please highlight the relevant findings of how disease spreads in one table and make another one for solutions, or you could integrate both in one. Please make some diagrams of how disease spreads that would be easy to understand for the lay person.

The introduction paragraph should highlight why there is a need for this review. The methods should include a search strategy and make a table of the studies selected for the review. The results should depict the available number of studies on the topic till date and how many were included in this review.

The government policies could be tabulated, and suggestions to improve the same provided.
