

Review of: "A Survey Study on Women Entrepreneurship in the BTR Area of Assam"

Elahe Hosseini¹

¹ Yazd University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for the opportunity to review this paper. I agree that this is an important and pertinent topic. Although the idea is a good one, unfortunately, the way in which the study is operationalized holds back its potential contribution.

- The discussion section needs to highlight what is new in your findings and what we can learn from a study conducted in this interesting and understudied context. Whilst the introduction sets the stage for the study by justifying the relevance of the study, the discussion is the most important section as it is in the discussion that it is all brought together, and the authors illustrate how and why the study findings advance the literature. Therefore, the discussion needs to illustrate the new insights—the contributions—in a clear and compelling manner. In other words, illustrate what we know now that we did not know before or, in effect, to clearly illustrate the contribution of the study to the different bodies of literature. Furthermore, what are the future research directions based on this new framework?
- The authors need to draw substantive conclusions from their results and suggest recommendations for further research.
- What are the limitations of this research, and how can they be solved by other researchers?