Overview:

This short article talks about how chatGPT as a tool will help the film industry and its limitations. It's an interesting Angle to look at, but I have to say I'm confused. I will explain my comments in more detail below.

1. This article was too short, not deep enough, and the references were minimal. I don't know what kind of scientific article it belongs to.
2. The advantages and disadvantages of chatGPT could be applied to other industries as well, but the film industry is not specific. I would like to see a unique review of chatGPT as it applies to the film industry.
3. Are there any cases or studies that support the author's claim?
4. Could there be a more systematic and rigorous study to explore the application value of chatGPT in the film industry?
