

Review of: "Studying the Level of Livelihood Vulnerability and the Necessity of the Work Developing a Farmhouse Economic Economic Model to Adapt to Climate Change in the Coastal Area of Ben Tre"

Rendani B. Munyai<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Limpopo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Abstract

This article holds great impacts both for communities and the body of knowledge. Whilst the abstract contains important facts, it is incomplete and does not include all the necessary aspects; for example, the methods used in this article are not included. Furthermore, the abstract is too general and does not report important findings. If these few minor corrections can be made, this would be a solid abstract.

Ask Problem

There are a few areas where there is erroneous punctuation. Please check sentence number 5 in paragraph 1 under "Ask Problem." The problem is well presented and articulated; however, further justification is needed on why the study is being conducted.

Overview of the Research Areas

A good and relevant description of the research area. However, I suggest that the article indicates how the three communes have been selected (clear justification).

Research Methods

This section is partially done. The community-based approach and model employed are not fully described.

The article must show how the sample size was generated. Several online calculations can be adopted!

Results and Discussion

The results are presented well, but there are no discussions of the results. Due to the lack of discussions, this section is incomplete. 