Dear Authors,

I would like to congratulate the authors to put all their effort to prepare this paper. It is a good paper but it has some limitations which need to be corrected before it gets to be published.

Abstract:

Authors could consider to rewrite the abstract by including the introduction, problem statement, research objective(s), methodology, results and implication of the results.

Literature Review:

Authors does not include many references here. The literature review is very limited for now. Check on the references used. No descriptions on the academic performances.

Methodology:

Authors did not include the sampling method, what was the total population and what technique the authors choose to solve this issue. If the authors chosen quantitative method then the authors could justify how he or she feels that 21 respondents is sufficient of this research. What was the time frame for the data collection process?

Results & Discussion:

This section has a very little explanations.

Conclusion:

In description section, no information on the limitation occurred during this research.
