

Open Peer Review on Qeios

MAP Kinase-Activating Death Domain Protein

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. MAP Kinase-Activating Death Domain Protein. NCI Thesaurus. Code C26479.

MAP kinase-activating death domain protein (1647 aa, \sim 183 kDa) is encoded by the human MADD gene. This protein is involved in the regulation of both guanine nucleotide exchange and cellular proliferation.

Qeios ID: TJVXE4 · https://doi.org/10.32388/TJVXE4