I hope all is well,

The topic of the article titled "A Study of the Urban Nightlife of Delhi and its Impact on Safety

" is a debatable and important topic. It is happening in many big cities of the world due to joining the economic globalization network of cities and capital flows, and it has received little attention. But in my opinion, it would be very significant if the author pointed out the negative and positive social effects of this method of night economy on the surrounding neighborhoods, which are mostly residential. Also, the accessibility of different social groups in the city was determined in terms of economic capability. One of the pillars of the sustainable development of any city is to pay attention to the concept of security and justice in access to various urban spaces, which is also mentioned in the article. Such spaces have made the city polarized and far from everyone's reach. In the following, it would be better if the author, while introducing exemplary spaces in the world, would count their defects, and examine the executive proposal of the national and local governments to increase the attractiveness and economic growth along with security. In the end, practical and practical suggestions to increase the popularity, accessibility and security of different social groups and residents of nearby neighborhoods should be presented.

Thank you,

Kind regards.
